

Course catalogue

TTF-NUT401 Technology of food from animal origin

Programme	Nutrition
Level	Bachelor's programme
Academic year	IV year
Semester	Spring Semester
ECTS credits	6 credits
Lecturers	Ass. Prof. Tatjana Kalevska, PhD Assoc. Prof. Elena Josevska, PhD
Language	Macedonian
Objective	The objective of this course is to enable students to gain a sound knowledge about the processing and preservation technologies foods of animal origin.
Content	The course comprises the following parts: Milk processing. Technologies for producing various dairy products. Technological procedures for preserving meat. Technologies for production of various types of meat products. Methods for conserving fish and eggs.
Learning materials	Reading from the primary literature are referenced in class and posted to the course website.